Art Unit: 3724

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I in Paper No. 8 is acknowledged.

The traversal is on the ground(s) that the two groups are known variants. This is not found persuasive because it does not release the examiner from having to search for said variants, thus creating burden beyond the limited time given to the examiner to examine the application.

Claims 7-13 are hereby withdrawn from consideration.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-4, 14-16, 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kleinman, who shows a razor having a moving toothed blade (26) and a stationary toothed blade (18), a handle (5) having two legs and connectors (21, 18) to lock the razor head at a selected pivotal location.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 5,6,17,18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kleinman in view of Doyle.

Kleinman shows a razor with all of the recited limitations except the connectors are not gears. However, in the art of locking razors in selected pivotal locations, Doyle shows that it is well known to employ gears (22) and buttons (26). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have modified Kleinman by making the connections out of gears and buttons, as taught by Doyle, in order to more firmly hold the razor in the desired pivotal location.

If it is interpreted that Doyle's element 26 are not "buttons", then Examiner takes official Notice that such quick-release buttons are old and well known in the art, and that it would have been obvious to further modify Kleinman by adding a quick-release button, in order to more quickly release the pivotal locking.

6. Made of record but not relied on are patents showing pivotable razor heads.

7. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Ken Peterson whose telephone number is 703-308-2186.
